Public and Private Improvements

During 1920 the list of improvements to Carmel properties, filed at the City Clerk's office, aggregated the value of $120,100. The real value is probably nearer $150,000.

Tentative plans for 1921 contemplate a much larger expenditure. Among them, the regrading and consequent improvement of Ocean avenue, whereby that boulevard will intercept the Del Monte scenic highway and bring Pebble Beach to our front yard, and the enlargement of our Sunset school building, both of which improvements are imperatively demanded by Carmel's growth. Many residences are planned and desirable building sites are rapidly increasing in value. Builders will serve their interests and please their neighbors by erecting garages in such places as will minimize the disfigurement to their localities and Carmel generally. Following are the exact figures:

	Permits	Value
New buildings -	48	$102,099
Additions - - -	34	14,625
Garages - - -	19	3,386
	101	$120,110

Rain and Snow

Up to and including January 20th, the rainfall for this season in Carmel has exceeded the total precipitation for the entire season of 1917-1918. A section of the Santa Lucia mountain range, plainly visible from Carmel hill, was covered with snow on Thursday last, an unusual spectacle that enhanced that always wondrous view and gladdened the hearts of the agriculturists.

Earthly Journey Over

Miss Virginia Brinton, one of Carmel's most estimable young ladies, passed away last Sunday morning, after an illness of about three weeks. Miss Brinton, with her mother, has been a resident of Carmel for two years. The young lady was a popular member of the senior class of the Monterey Union High School. She was eighteen years of age, and a native of Woodland, California. The funeral took place on Monday morning, and was attended by relatives only.

Dance Pupils Enrolling

The following pupils have enrolled at the Carmel School of Dancing: Miss Frances Hartsook, Seattle; Miss Genevieve McAdam, Everett, Washington; Jeanette Fuller, Minot, North Dakota; Dorothy Adams, Denver; Helen Hewitt, Los Angeles; Eleanor Frampton Lincoln, Nebraska; Katherine Peters, Omaha; Beatrice Johnson, Omaha; Mrs. A. H. Andrews, Evanston, Illinois; Mrs. S. M. Perry, Denver.

This popular school will be held on Friday evenings, except when Arts and Crafts Hall is required for other entertainments, in which case the dancing class will be held on Thursday evenings. Notice of change of date will be announced in the Pine Cone.

Pine Needles

Miss Margaret Clark is spending this week visiting friends in Oakland, and her mother leaves shortly for a visit in San Francisco

Mrs. Effie Schofield has returned to Carmel after several weeks absence.

The abalone hunters were out en masse last Saturday and Sunday. The tides being most favorable, many abalones were gathered by residents and visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Bechdoldt are in San Francisco on one of their occasional visits. They will be away for a month.

Mrs. Grimes was here last week looking over her property holdings. She will probably build in the summer.

Work has been started on the Hooper cottage in the south end, so that the family may occupy it in a short time.

Mrs. Livingston Jenks of Chicago, who has been visiting Mrs. Calvin Hogle in Carmel during the past week, left on Tuesday accompanied by Mrs. Hogle for San Francisco, where they remain for a week.

Mrs. Jennie Coleman and Mrs. Catherine More-Curtis journeyed to Salinas yesterday on legal business.

The red flag which appeared on Ocean avenue's driveway during Tuesday did not mean that work on regrading had commenced, not yet but soon.

Each day at noon the back-room diners at Curtis' have a roll call. There are mighty few late-comers or absentees.

The Reading Circle had the pleasure of listening to Mrs. Sydney Yard at the last meeting.

Dr. Geo. White, district superintendent, will preach at the Carmel church Sunday morning at the usual hour. The business meeting of the quarter will be held immediately following the services.

Boys from nine years old to twelve are invited to meet Miss Culbertson and Miss Johnson, at Lincoln and Seventh avenues, Tuesday evening, February 1, at 7:30, to arrange, if possible, for a Junior Boys' Club, which will be limited to ten members.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Dunmage are in San Francisco, where they will meet Mrs. Dunmage's daughter and new baby, who are on their way down from Seattle.

Rev. Fred Sheldon gave a splendid illustrated lecture on South America at the Methodist Church last Sunday evening. There was a large attendance. His next lecture will be on Panama.

The Samarkand at Santa Barbara is the abiding place of Mrs. Ralph C. Harrison. She will return shortly to Carmel.

Miss Ruth Radcliff spent the last week-end in San Francisco, visiting friends.

Mrs. W. S. Johns, who has been the guest of the Crookers at Belvidere, is spending a few days in Carmel.

The Carmel Dancing Class will be held on Thursday of this week at the Boke House instead of Friday at Arts at Crafts Hall.

A fine little outrigger canoe is soon to sail the Carmel River. It was brought from Honolulu, and is the property of Edward G. Kuster.

Mrs. Helen White Durney and children are occupying their residence on Carmelo avenue, after an extended visit to Berkeley and Petaluma.

Miss Nancy Duggar entertained her little friends Saturday afternoon The occasion being in honor of her eighth birthday. The little guests were Misses Norma and Helen Crow, Margaret Swain, Bettina Coleman, Elizabeth Corson, Carol Thuelichum and Beatrice McDonald.

Mrs. Mabel Gray Young leaves for San Francisco tomorrow. Musical events which she plans to attend will keep her in the metropolis for about a week.

Miss Claribel Haydock of the Mission Tea House, near Carmel-by-the-Sea, has been called to Santa Clara, due to the serious illness of her grandmother, Mrs. E. Platt.

Our Anniversary Edition

Next Thursday the Pine Cone will have attained its seventh birthday, an event not (as yet) of national importance, but one which the management will celebrate in usual journalistic fashion by telling its readers some things of Carmel as it was in 1915 and also reprint for the edification of new comers, journalistic feats of that period.

To avoid being crowded out advertisers should send in their copy or make space reservations without delay.

THE PINE CONE is devoted to Art, Letters, Music and the Drama, as well as to the business and social affairs of Carmel and vicinity. News items and original contributions pertaining to these subjects will be welcomed by the News Editor.

Triple Bill by Carmel Players

The three one-act plays, to be presented by Carmel players tomorrow night at Arts and Crafts Hall, are varied in type. The curtain-raiser will be "Treasures," a fantasy, written by Charles K. Van Riper, a resident of Carmel. It will be followed by Rossetti's dramatic ballad, "Sister Helen." For a finale the program will offer William C. De Mille's "In 1999."

Four new players are included in the cast of "Treasures," in which the characters are the contents of a small boy's pocket. With more than half the cast making their first appearance here, the curtain-raiser launches one of the purposes to which a winter season might be devoted—the developing of a larger personnel for Carmel plays.

"Sister Helen" also serves the players' purpose of experimenting with dramatic material. Rossetti's ballad is rich in pictorial and tone qualities and these values are being emphasized. Working with limited facilities, the production has been staged with effective simplicity.

The third of the plays, "In 1999," is a startlingly unexpected working out of the dramatic triangle—and exceptionally well-balanced triangle this time. Combined with a decidedly unusual playlet is a cast that Carmel can rate on past performances as "all star."

The hour for the curtain has been set at 8:30, and the evening's entertainment will be begun promptly at that time. In courtesy to the audience and players no one can be admitted to the hall after the curtain is up. Late comers will be accommodated at intermission. The players for their part will eliminate as far as possible the waits between parts of the bill.

Tickets for the evening are to be had at the Pine Cone, Book Shop, Carmel Bakery, Hand's, the hotels, tea rooms, through the high school students from Miss Louise Prince, or by mail from W. T. Kibbler, the players' trustee.

Dirt Will Soon Begin to Fly on Ocean Ave.

At the special meeting of the city fathers on Tuesday evening real progress was made toward the improvement of Ocean avenue.

Definite plans for regrading with natural bitumen were adopted. The plans and specifications were approved by the City Engineer, and the shortest cut taken through the "red tape" incidental to such public improvements.

It can confidently be expected that the dirt will begin to fly before the summer season begins, and thereafter rapid progress will be made.

Land from San Antonio avenue to the beach has been deeded to the city by the Carmel Development Company.

It is likely that the expense of the improvement will be spread over the property of the entire city.

Opposition to any salary increases or additional deputies for the county officers was the outstanding feature of the report of the 1920 Monterey county grand jury last week.

Why Not Serve Tea?

A bookshop with a fireplace and a comfortable settee in front of it, where the visitor is invited to sit and "browse" with a book or two, has just been opened in East Sixtieth street by three women—Mrs. George Klots, Mrs. Walter E. Sachs and Mrs. Francis Le B. Robbins Jr. A part of the proceeds is to go to charity, but it is proposed to make the place at least self-supporting. During its first week it cleared expenses, and the three proprietors say that is an unusual occurrence for a new undertaking.

The women are amateurs. None of them ever kept a bookshop before. They say they are building up a business "entirely from the customers' point of view." There are four shelves of modern novels, personally recommended by the directors. There are two shelves of detective stories arranged for "brilliant but tired men." For less tired men are shelves of letters, travels and biography. In one corner are children's books, some in French and some in English. In another corner is a shelf of modern poetry, arranged by the member of the staff who writes verses. There is a short-story shelf, whence one may pluck a volume and wander therewith to the soft couch and sink into it placidly until the old clock above the fireplace reminds of duties elsewhere.—N. Y. Observations FROM THE Editorial Sanctum

HOW ABOUT IT, DAN?

A great majority of the voters of Monterey county would no doubt like to know just why our Assemblyman, Dan McCloskey, voted "no" on the proposition to require the corporations to pay their just shares of taxes. Monterey county has few of what might be termed large dominating corporations, and it would seem that the interests of the small army of taxpayers should have influenced our representative's vote.

EVIL AND BENIGN VIBRATIONS

The pursuit of medical science, the most primitive and the oldest of known sciences, has known many epochs, each has gained advance though marked by frequent lapses.

Dr. George Starr White announces that he is now curing chronic diseases by the application of the vibrations of light. That disease germs cannot live in a sunbeam is an established scientific fact. The light of the sun consists of seven colors. Dr. White's theory and practice is based on the results of his research which determined that in health the body absorbs color light vibrations as needed to maintain a healthful equilibrium and when ill one or more color vibration is absent.

Dr. White's system of diagnosis discovers which vibration is lacking and supplies it by light filtered through the proper colored slide in the apparatus he uses.

Perhaps science has consummated its search and the day of sanitariums, where we may receive a saturate vibration of red or other colored light and be healthful ever afterward has arrived. Or better yet, thwart evil vibrations in their incipiency by using, on our electric lamps, the color indicated on charts as decreasing.

All hail the Carmel players who have ruled that ticket holders for their three one act plays at Arts and Crafts Hall tomorrow evening will not be admitted to disconcert the plays or discommode the audience while the curtain is up.

On Monday of this week four new pupils were admitted to Sunset school, which accentuates the space congestion existing there. Parents and citizens generally are insistent that a bond election, to relieve that intolerable condition, be called by the trustees of Sunset School District. Suggestions are made that the election be held sometime in April.

Dramatic Notes

At Maxwell Armfield's exhibition at the MacDowell Gallery in New York the drawings for costumes and scenes in "Merry Christmas Daddy" are shown, together with the designs for "Cinderella of the Redwoods," produced by the Children's Theatre at Berkeley, Cal., and for the Biblical play, "Miriam;" also designs for the coming production of "The Winter's Tale" at the Little Theatre.

An opportunity for tryouts to participate in the dramatic productions of the Berkeley Theater of Allied Arts during the next four months will be given residents of Berkeley and the bay cities, according to Mrs. Herbert Sanford Howard, chairman of the drama committee. Any one with dramatic ability, whether a member of the Arts Theater or not, is eligible to participate in the productions.

The Arts Theater is a semi-civic institution to belong to all the people of the city, and no one of serious intent is barred from it. It was founded several months ago and is just arriving at that stage where participation in the dramatic events is open to all. Mrs. Howard, who was in Carmel last summer, was much impressed with the merit of the Forest Theatre productions.

David Belasco gave a stage and four sets of scenery to Sing Sing prisoners as a Christmas present. He heard that the men had a hall for entertainments, but that they lacked a stage, "props" and the scenery necessary to make the plays realistic.

A stage, 20 by 38 feet, fourteen feet high, with fly gallery and all the necessary machinery, arrived at the prison recently, and with it seven men of Mr. Belasco's staff to set it up. The gift was received by Warden Lewis E. Lawes on behalf of the prisoners. When they heard of it they began plans for a real theatrical performance.

Thomas Meighan, the moving-picture actor who recently staged an escape scene at Sing Sing, presented a small moving-picture machine to the prison, and Warden Lawes has told the men that they could have censured pictures shown occasionally.

Now who will present the opera chairs?

The University of California Extension is becoming more and more extensive. Students of the modern dramatic movement will note with interest that Dr. Benjamin H. Lehman of the English Department will open a course with a discussion of the latest theatrical movements as exemplified in the Little Theater, the Open Air and the Community Playhouse.

Dr. Lehman has had professional stage experience and was associated with the play-writing class at Harvard and the groups of playwrights included in his lectures will be discussed in the following order: Ibsen, Henry Arthur Jones, Sir Arthur Pinero; Barrie and Maeterlink; Shaw, Barker and Galsworthy; Tolstoi, Tekeoff, Gorky, Strindberg; Sudermann and Brieux; John Masefield, John Synge and Yeats; Lady Gregory and St. John Ervine; Wilde, Peabody, D'Annunzio, Rostand, Hauptmann and Phillips; Fitch, Thomas, Walter, Sheldon, Thomas Hardy Drinkwater and his play, "Abraham Lincoln;" Moody and his play, "The Great Divide."

The Pine Cone can handle that job of printing for you at the right price.

The Wonders of America

By T. T. MAXEY

THE NEW YORK STATE BARGE CANAL.

TO open the western country and provide safe and cheap transportation for market-bound products, the improvement of the waterways was an absolute necessity. Governor DeWitt Clinton dreamed of a state-owned canal. The route was inspected and approved by President George Washington, engineer and surveyor. The Erie canal, opened in 1825, four-feet deep, 42 feet wide and floating boats carrying 30 tons, was the result. Many laughed at it, calling it "Clinton's Big Ditch." In conjunction with the Niagara river, it connected Lake Erie and the Hudson river.

Prior to its opening, Philadelphia was America's greatest seaport. After its completion, the shipping naturally went to New York and the splendid chain of prosperous cities which won for New York the title of Empire state, sprang up along the route. The canal did such an enormous business that in 1903, the people of the state decided to make it a barge canal, hence the name.

The present main canal is 12 feet deep, 75 to 200 feet wide, 339 miles long and has three branches aggregating 100 miles in length. It is one of the world's greatest engineering feats and is ten times as long as the Panama canal. It contains 57 locks, each 328 feet long and 45 feet wide. Five at Waterford have a combined lift of 169 feet and are the greatest series of high-lift locks in the world. Three hundred or more bridges, carrying railroads and public highways, cross this canal. The total cost approximated $150,000,000, and is being paid by the people of the Empire state.

Music Matters

The new $7,000 pipe organ purchased by the San Jose Elks Lodge has arrived in that city and the work of installing it has been started. It is said to be the finest instrument of its kind in the Santa Clara valley. The new organ will be dedicated to the memory of the late Dr. George W. Seifert, who died a year ago and who left $15,000 to the local lodge. It will be necessary to make several changes in Elks' lodge rooms in order to provide a place for the new instrument.

An interesring edition of Grieg's concerto for pianoforte or orchestra, as edited by Percy Grainger, is just published. It is the arrangement with the orchestra accompaniment arranged for a second piano. Mr. Grainger spent some time with Grieg in his home in Norway just before he died, preparing to play the concerto; from the composer he then obtained what he calls "A priceless body of experiences" as to Greig's intentions regarding the performance of the concerto; these he has incorporated into this edition.

Willem Mengelberg of Amsterdam is in New York to conduct thirty concerts of the National Symphony Orchestra, from the middle of January until the end of March. The long engagement is due primarily to the necessity of Mr. Bodansky's devoting this time to opera at the Metropolitan.

Once a Philharmonic guest fifteen years ago, Mengelberg for twenty five years has been the conductor of the Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam. Before the war he traveled much in Holland, Belgium and Scandinavia, and in 1903 was taken to London for a great Richard Strauss festival.

Books and Authors

Joseph Conrad, the creator of "Lord Jim," "The Rescue," "Victory," and how much else, is to work directly for the screen. Jesse L. Lasky has signed a contract with him which will result in his undertaking the translation of at least one of his novels into moving pictures. He will first study picture making in one of the Paramount studios, it is said.

Rupert Hughes is one of the authors who has taken up scenario writing in a serious way, and, according to reports from the Goldwyn studio in Culver City, he is pushing cameramen and directors to carry out his pictorial ideas. For example, it is said, he recently ordered a scene that required six separate exposures of a single length of film—and got it.

Charging that there are Bolshevists in art as well as in society and that they are willing to sacrifice the sacred and precious things in poetry, music, and painting for the sake of creating a sensation of the moment, Charles Keeler, Berkeley poet, attacked this group as destroyers of tradition and the ideal in a recent lecture on "Bolshevism and Idealism in Poetry." The lecture was the second of a series of three by Keeler given free through the generosity of Guy C. Earl. Keeler read from his own and other writers' works. The first lecture of the series was given two weeks ago on "A Poet's Gleanings in Far Lands." The last lecture will be given on Wednesday evening, February 2.

Sad Story of "Pussy Gray"

BY MRS. J. B. McCHESNEY.

My Dear Mr. Editor: Won't you please put a little notice in your paper, because my mistress has lost me?

I know she thinks a great deal of your paper, because it told her all about the Outdoor Art Club.

She has lost me, and I know she cannot keep house without me, for I heard her say she had never known peace from mice and rats until I lived with her, and besides I "was such a dear, and so cunning."

I did try to be, though it is not my style, after I heard her say she "must have an "Angora,' they are so cute, but what would I do with two cats?"

Now I knew all about the family getting ready to go back to the city. Why couldn't they stay in this lovely place? And I was expecting to be put in the basket I was brought over in, when the big wagon came over for trunks, on the seat with the driver was a great ugly dog, with his tongue hanging out.

When he saw me he chased me up a tree, and I was too frightened to cry "murder."

Teddy, my little master, wasn't there; he always chases off the cross dogs, though he said they really didn't mean to kill me, and I must stand my ground.

From the tree I saw everybody hurrying about in great confusion; a carriage came, and, Mr. Editor, they drove off without me!

Teddy was with the driver, cracking the whip, or I know he would have thought of poor me.

I stay right on the steps (the house is tight locked so I cannot get in) looking, looking for my mistress. One day I cried so hard a dear little girl stopped on her way to school to pet me. She cuddled me up in her arms, and told me she knew how mean and thoughtless people are. She gave me something to eat out of her basket, and said as she was a "Band of Mercy Girl" she would write to you, Mr. Editor, for me, for I was a poor little "left over."

I am afraid I will have to go to Millwood to live. Slinky, a tramp cat, told me it is a cat town. Here you have an awful hard time and can't keep looking decent, you have to fight so to get anything to eat. No body wants you, and I would rather drown myself.

Mornfully,
PUSSY GRAY.

P. S.—Don't you think she will come back for me?

(We gladly publish this pretty little letter. It treats of a very cruel and very common custom. Perhaps the children will take up poor Pussy's cause.—Ed).

Interesting Art News

Sidney Armer recently made a talk to the members of the Commercial Artists' Association of San Francisco last week on the subject of "Modern Art," and presented an original "Matisse," perhaps the only one in the city, and some recent examples of the modern school of painting. Maynard Dixon will give the next talk to the association in the near future, tracing the "Effect of Modern Painting on Commercial Art."

Swiss business firms are said by Consul Thornwell Haynes, Berne, to display great talent in artistic advertising, more especially in the use of pictures and photographs. For the most part, he asserts in a report to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, these illustrations portray some well-known national event, or some artistic and historic piece of natural scenery. The big chocolate manufacturers and watch makers of Berne are particularly adept to appealing to the eye.

Orrin M. Peck, prominent California landscape and portrait painter, died suddenly last Thursday morning in Los Angeles.

While still a young man Peck went abroad to study painting, talent for which he early had shown great aptitude. In Munich he took lessons from masters and subsequently moved to London, where he purchased the "White House" at Chelsea, a quaint abode made famous by Whistler, who built it for a studio.

Among his paintings are: "Scene in the Garden of Santa Barbara Mission," which won a gold medal for Peck at the Chicago Exposition; "The Cabbage Patch," now hanging in the Bohemian Club, where he has several other paintings; "The Monks," a Santa Barbara mission scene, and "Vonihm," a popular garden painting.

The Keyes-Gillett Bill

BY W. SCOTT, A. B.

Written for the Pine Cone.

This bill, now before Congress which proposes intergovernmental co-operation for the spread of education to all mankind on the initiative of the United States, has friends in California and other states as appears from the list of signers to the petition. Among the promoters of popular education are philanthropic, denominational, corporate and governmental factors; but government is by far the largest factor. The immense amount expended for education by local government, state and nation, is one of the wonders of the world. The arguments for local, state and federal participation in education apply with equal force to international or world education today, since all nations have been brought closer together by transportation, electrical and other agencies. All nations are now near neighbors. These arguments are protective, economic, corporate, democratic.

Horace Mann, one of the most eminent of American educators, said: "All generations of men constitute one corporation." If that is conceded, the highest welfare of each member of the human race is the concern of all mankind. The United States is indebted to all nations to a degree never equaled by any other nation. Its political thought is European, its religion Asiatic, its arts and sciences from world experience, its population from all continents.

On the call of the United States Commissioner of Education, the first intergovernmental conference on education was appointed at The Hague in 1914, but the world war prevented the meeting.

The idea of this projected conference is embodied in the Keyes-Gillett bill which should be carefully examined by friends of education everywhere. It is generally conceded that good government rests on widely diffused popular intelligence. World democracy must have as its basis world education.

Polo Season to Open

Capt. H. H. Holmes is very much impressed with the operations that have been made at Del Monte to usher in the polo season on the coast. The two regulation polo fields have been put into good condition for play, and the stable accommodations and other arrangements are considered all that could be desired.

One of the features of the Invitational Polo Tournament, which will open the season in California at Del Monte on Saturday, will be the introduction of the new rules that were adopted by the Polo Association of America last season. These rules were played throughout the East last summer, but have not been enforced in California as yet.

On Saturday there will be a match between junior teams and on Sunday the senior fours will be seen in action. Games are scheduled for next week. It is expected that a large crowd of polo enthusiasts will turn out to see polo officially ushered in.

So well attended have the movies been lately, that the general public are beginning to look forward to two a-week.
